Handmade
Barbecue Equipment

From a Small Farm Welding Shop

Our story begins forty years ago, in the early 1980s, when someone asked Dad to build a pig roaster. An inventor at heart, he designed and built the roaster in his small custom welding shop. A happy customer spread the word, and more people requested cookers. In the late 80s we developed and launched our line of “chicken cookers,” charcoal pits with rotating sandwich grates to streamline grilled chicken fund-raisers. By 1998 Meadow Creek had outgrown the shop on the farm and moved to our current location, where we’ve since expanded twice.

Over the years we’ve developed and added new products, such as our reverse-flow tank smokers and revolutionary box smokers. Today we offer a full line of grills, pig roasters, smokers, and mobile sinks. Each piece is still handcrafted in the heart of Pennsylvania Dutch country by our team of skilled craftsmen. We love what we do and work hard to give our customers more than their money’s worth.

Chicken Cookers

Meadow Creek Grills With Rotating Grates
Make it Fun and Easy to Grill Tender, Juicy Chicken With Crispy Skin Every Time!

Known as the “chicken flippers,” these Meadow Creek grills with rotating sandwich grates have revolutionized chicken barbecues. Double-sided grates make it easy to turn the entire rack of meat with one hand. The stainless steel grates never rust and are easy to maintain, for many years of use.

The Meadow Creek Chicken Cooker is the perfect choice if you want to grill perfectly done bone-in chicken and also want the option to grill other foods, such as sausage links, burgers, steaks, and potatoes.

The food is separated from the fire by vertical distance as in a traditional block pit.

The Consistency Was Seamless...

I cooked 75–80 pounds of wings per hour on the BBQ42 without getting carpal tunnel. The consistency with each batch was seamless. Today I grilled some burgers on the unit and was truly surprised with how juicy they came out.

Perfect Chicken Every Time

I have owned your chicken cooker for about 5 years and cooked for parties of 400 and I can truly say that I have never burned up a grate full of chicken. This grill makes perfect chicken every time. It is also very well made.

Freddie Brigham

Some of the Best Steaks in 40 Years...

I can extend the cook time out to an hour and a half for some nicely smoked chicken. I also have the fixed charcoal grate and griddle. By setting the charcoal pan at the higher location the cooker makes a superb charcoal grill. It cooks some of the best steaks I've done in the last 40 years.

John Moyers

Makes Cooking Chicken Easy...

The BBQ96 is very well designed. It is easily operated by one person and makes cooking chicken easy. The lids help get more smoke into the meat and avoid flare-ups. I like that I can raise the charcoal tray and use a flat grate to grill tri-tip, steaks, or hot dogs.

Pig Roasters

These Smokers Make it a Breeze to Cook Nearly Anything

Besides whole pigs, you can cook a huge variety of foods on a Meadow Creek PR series roaster—easily and efficiently. The drip pan creates indirect heat, and this roaster’s design makes it easy to hold a consistent temperature for as long as you need it. On the charcoal units, you can add enough charcoal to last for 12 hours or longer, and with the added help of an electronic temperature controller, you can safely leave it unattended while you catch a night’s sleep.

The Meadow Creek Pig Roaster is a great choice if you want to cook whole pigs and any other cuts with indirect heat. You can even grill foods over direct heat if you add an optional grill pan.

The removable drip pan between the fire and the food creates vertically indirect heat.

I own two restaurants and have been in this business for over 25 years. Having pig roasts is probably the most popular thing we've done and the Meadow Creek Pig Roaster is an incredible piece of equipment. We were very surprised to see the quality of the product, as well as how easy it is to operate.

Our customers love being part of the process and seeing the pig (and other items) cooking. The smell alone drives people crazy. I just wanted to say thank you for your help and for providing me with such a quality piece of equipment. It has made us more profitable and more unique.

The last time I cooked a whole pig on a borrowed rotisserie it was a flaming nightmare... Using my Meadow Creek PR60G, I set the temp and loaded the pig, and down came the rain and a fair bit of wind. I adjusted the gas to keep the heat flowing and from then on it was sweet dreams.

I cooked a 230-pound hog for our Restaurant Managers Cookout and it was absolutely superb—both the result and the cooker. I can't say enough about the cooker, which performed admirably. It is an exceptional piece of equipment—one that we will use often. It's quality and dependability throughout!

Caterer's Delight Trailers

Meadow Creek Combination Trailers With a BBQ42 Chicken Cooker and Pig Roaster

Like all of our trailer models, this heavy-duty rig is ready to move at your bidding and feed hungry crowds with delicious, mouth-watering barbecue. The BBQ42 is a charcoal grill with a rotating sandwich grate. The pig roaster will handle whole pigs and anything you normally do in a regular low and slow smoker.

Choose between two sizes on the pig roaster (PR60 or PR72) and gas or charcoal-fired. Refer to the BBQ42 and PR Upgrades for ways to customize these trailers.

Tank Smokers

Meadow Creek Tank Smokers Put the “Style” Into Good Ol’ Southern Style Barbecue

Our reverse-flow tank smokers make it easy to crank out amazing barbecue while maintaining the tradition of offset cooking. Few outdoor cookers can beat the presentation appeal of an offset smoker trailer at a catering site.

We make it easy to customize the smoker to fit your needs with a variety of upgrades, including insulated fireboxes, stainless steel workshelves, and rib racks.

From the heavy steel doors with positive-lock latches to the smooth welds, sliding stainless steel grates, and rounded tank ends designed for optimal airflow, we work hard to give you the best in handcrafted value.

If you want to cook with indirect heat, and occasionally cook over direct heat, choose a Meadow Creek Tank Smoker with an optional Charcoal Grill Pan.

Heat is produced in the firebox at the side, flows beneath the sealed drip pan to the opposite end, enters the smoking chamber, then returns toward the firebox and exits the stack.

From Amateur to Professional...

I'm really impressed with the quality of this equipment... I cooked 4 pork butts, 8 racks of St. Louis style ribs, and a case of whole chicken legs. They turned out the best I've ever made, no exaggeration! These cookers make a seasoned professional out of an amateur.

SQ36 Offset Smoker

This entry-level smoker is a great choice for backyard enthusiasts who want an offset smoker that's better quality than the chain store models.

The T304 stainless steel cooking grate holds 5–6 pork butts or 2 whole briskets, and the optional 2nd Tier Grate doubles that. The optional grill pan converts this smoker into a direct-heat grill for burgers and steaks.

Heat enters the bottom of the cooking chamber through the smoke distributor, which helps to keep the temperature consistent throughout the cooker.

- ✓ Extra grates in smoker (XGS) add more cooking surface. The tracks are 2.25" apart on the BX25, 3" apart on the BX50, and 4" apart on the BX100. A pork butt or whole brisket requires the height of two spaces.
- ✓ Highly recommended: Stainless steel interior (SSI) eliminates the possibility of rust inside the smoker and makes it easier to clean. If rust develops on the ceiling of the smoker, it will mix with the moisture in the smoker and drip onto your meat while cooking.

I use the BX50 for brisket, pork butts, chicken, bacon, and anything else I get in the mood to make. I also use it for all of my cold smoking. The way these hold temperature for hours without adjustments is amazing. I literally can do a 10–12 hour smoke on my BX50 with only 2 chimneys of charcoal, a couple of handfuls of lump, and my wood of choice.

Todd Eckert, Bernville, PA

The BX50 has lots of room, and I can set it and forget it... It is built to last and my boys will be getting it once I can't do this anymore. I've had the BX50 for years and cooked hundreds of pounds of food on it. If you are thinking about getting one, do it. It's fun and this smoker will last. And the best part is that every one asks you to their party!

STAINLESS STEEL

Stainless steel eliminates rust and makes the grill easier to maintain.

Ask your dealer about upgrading your smoker to stainless steel or building one for your outdoor kitchen.
